

In this talk I will present the ENGRAVE collaboration that has been built to characterize electromagnetic counterparts of gravitational wave events with ESO telescopes. I will describe how it is structured, the results obtained to date, and the telescope time that has been awarded to the collaboration for O4.