I will present an overview of the upcoming JWST programs that are relevant to the extragalactic science community, including ERS to GO programs. I will also discuss the planned activities based on the analysis of these data, and how the SNO products can help the community to exploit such observations and prepare future GO calls.